Beliefs About Learning

Respectful relationships are fundamental to facilitation of learning and personal growth.

A safe and supportive environment promotes engagement and wellbeing.

Learning is developmental, building upon prior knowledge and experiences.

Learning is relevant when there is a clear purpose and engages the learner in making personal meaning.

Content, pedagogy and assessment must align for authentic learning outcomes to be achieved.
Moving from Stage 2 into Stage 3

- Children are expected to act responsibly in the playground and in class.

- Children should aim to be a strong role model for younger students.

- High work standards are expected in Stage 3.

- Over the next 2 years, an important focus is upon organisational skills to support the transition into high school.

- Children are expected to carry out their leadership roles in a responsible, independent manner.
